

Uk Researchers: COVID Shots "Appear To Expose People To An Increased Mortality"

December 17, 2021

Experts from Queen Mary College in London (QMUL) have discovered flaws in COVID-19 vaccine information. These anomalies appear to be demonstrating that the narrative supporting the potency of the jabs is "massively exaggerated" and that the vaccines expose recipients to a danger of "increased mortality. "

The most likely factor for that erroneous statistics has to do with governing bodies misclassifying those who have died inside 14 days of a COVID injection as "unvaccinated. " We have documented on this many times. The way the rulers continue to collect the data is totally abysmal, sinister, and very sadistic. It's being done in a method to push a narrative associated with fear in order to force these types of "vaccines" on all of us. Reviews are coming out that many receivers of these shots are already displaying signs of vaccine-induced acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (VAIDS), which would show an increase in mortality.

Dr . Norman Fenton, a Professor in Danger Information Management at QMUL and a lead author associated with the study, provided a broad construction of his team's analysis in a December 4 radio interview:

"In fact, if you take accounts of the fact that newly vaccinated individuals [who] perish, [are] most likely being misclassified as unvaccinated—because that's the most likely description for the strange things within the data—then you get to the conclusion the fact that vaccines don't seem to slow up the all-cause mortality, but rather create a genuine spike in all-cause mortality soon after vaccination, " he described.

After considering further facets of the data, Neil concludes that they discovered "no significant benefit of the particular vaccines in the short term. " Actually the shots "appear to show people to an increased mortality. "

11. After our counterfactual adjustment we observe simply no significant benefit of the vaccines in the short term. They appear to uncover people to an increased mortality, consistent with what we know about immune publicity or pre-infection risks,

Furthermore, "[w]hatever the details for the observed data, it really is clear that the ONS information is both unreliable plus misleading. Absent any better description Occam's razor would assistance our conclusions. The ONS data provide no dependable evidence that the vaccines decrease all-cause mortality. "

Within September, Dr . Joseph Mercola reported that the Centers for Condition Control (CDC) in the United States can be "counting anyone who died inside the first 14 days post-injection because unvaccinated. "

"Not just does this inaccurately fill the unvaccinated death cost, but it also hides the real problems of the COVID shots, because the vast majority of deaths out there occur within the first two weeks. Right now their deaths are measured as unvaccinated deaths instead of being counted as fatalities due to vaccine injury or even COVID-19 breakthrough infections," he wrote. -Life Web site News

Something is going right here. Nothing makes sense if viewed with critical thinking plus logic. Stay alert plus aware. The desperation will end up intense. Those intent on our enslavement will not cease until you are a permanent servant, or their power is definitely wiped away. Keep your eye open. As this news happens, and more people realize these were born into this servant system of oppression by the govt, there will be more attempts to help control and cement their particular rule.
