

Google Quickly Resets, Screens Results for 'Mass Formation Psychosis' After Bombshell Dr. Malone, Joe Rogan Interview

NewsRescue January 2, 2022

Lazy eyes listen

-00:00

- Ministry of Truth tactic should tell you all you need to know about what really motivates
- Google not just censoring videos or people, but now even concepts and theories in real time

by Jamie White

Dr. Robert Malone, the virologist who invented the mRNA technology used in the COVID injection, spoke of a fascinating phenomenon while on Joe Rogan's podcast regarding a large swath of humanity who have been induced into semi-permanent hysteria over the establishment's constant COVID propaganda — called "mass formation psychosis."

Malone explained to Rogan how the German people in the 1920-30s during Adolf Hitler's rise to power "went barking mad" from mass formation psychosis.

Related: NewsRescue—MUST WATCH: Dr. Robert Malone Drops BOMBHELLS During Viral Interview With Joe Rogan

"When you have a society that has become decoupled from each other and has free-floating anxiety in a sense that things don't make sense. We can't understand it. And then their attention gets focused by a leader or series of events on one small point, just like hypnosis," Malone said.

On Joe Rogan, Dr Robert Malone suggests we are living through a mass formation psychosis.

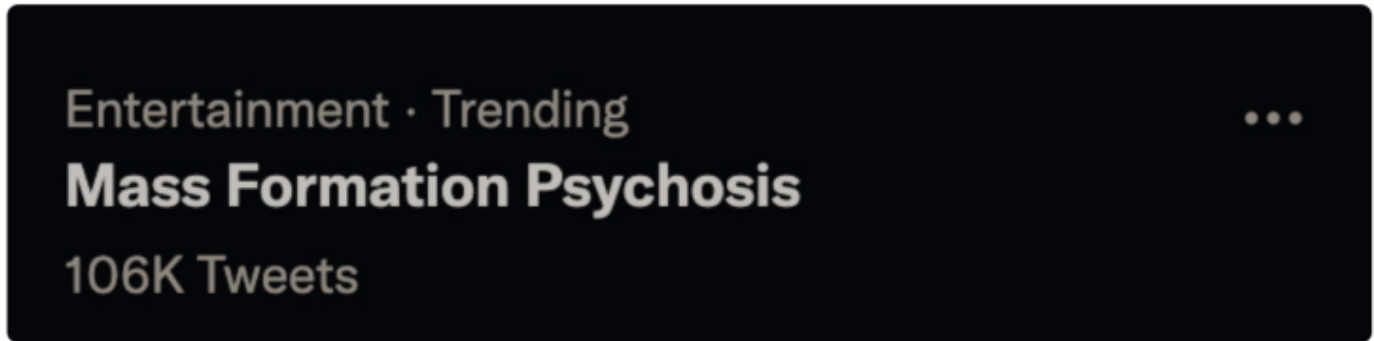

He explains how and why this could happen, and its effects.

He draws analogy to 1920s/30s Germany "they had a highly intelligent, highly educated population, and they went barking mad"
pic.twitter.com/wZpfMsyEZZ

— Mythinformed MKE (@MythinformedMKE) January 1, 2022

"They literally become hypnotized and can be literally led anywhere."

The Malone-Rogan interview, and subsequently, the term "mass formation psychosis" went viral and began trending on social media over the New Year's weekend, prompting search engine giant Google to step in to blunt its spread.

"It looks like these results are changing quickly," Google states upon searching "mass formation psychosis."

About 10,400,000 results (0.28 seconds)

It looks like these results are changing quickly

If this topic is new, it can sometimes take time for results to be added by reliable sources

"If this topic is new, it can sometimes take time for results to be added by reliable sources."

Dr Malone broke the algorithm and now Google is struggling to manually edit the results when you search for mass formation psychosis. Try it. Never seen this before.

pic.twitter.com/kBKBGjM8bB

— Mass Formation Poso (@JackPosobiec) January 1, 2022

Turns out, the “reliable sources” Google is now referring for its top results included an obscure YouTube video of a blogger calling for Spotify to shut down Joe Rogan over his interview with Malone.

Google has now made this random guy's video attacking Dr Malone on Mass Formation Psychosis the top result when you search for it

On DuckDuck it comes right up at the top

pic.twitter.com/5uVRs100KB

— Mass Formation Poso (@JackPosobiec) January 1, 2022

Compare Google's new results to the less politically motivated DuckDuckGo, which shows relevant search results, such as Dr. Malone's Substack page and other results clarifying the meaning of mass formation psychosis.

When you search for "Mass Formation Psychosis," Google directs you towards a YouTube video attacking Dr. Robert Malone.

On DuckDuckGo, you'll be led to Dr. Malone's Substack page.

pic.twitter.com/vCkpVYheNT

— The Vigilant Fox (@VigilantFox) January 1, 2022

Likewise, Microsoft's Bing also offers more relevant results of mass formation psychosis compared to Google.

The screenshot shows a Microsoft Bing search results page for the query "mass formation psychosis". The search bar at the top contains the text "mass formation psychosis" and includes icons for voice search, refresh, and search. Below the search bar are navigation tabs for "ALL", "SCHOOL", "IMAGES", "VIDEOS", "MAPS", "NEWS", and "SHOPPING". The "ALL" tab is selected. The search results indicate "664,000 Results" and "Any time" filter. The first result is from "rwmalonemd.substack.com" dated "Dec 09, 2021". The title is "MASS FORMATION PSYCHOSIS - by Robert W Malone MD, MS". The snippet reads: "The conditions to set up mass formation psychosis include lack of social connectedness and sensemaking as well as large amounts of latent anxiety and passive aggression. When people are inundated with a narrative that presents a plausible 'object of anxiety' and strategy for coping with it, then many individuals group together to battle the object with a collective singlemindedness." The URL is "https://rwmalonemd.substack.com/p/mass-formation-psychosis". Below this are two more results. The second is from "The Post & Email" titled "What is 'Mass Formation Psychosis?' - The Post & Email" with a snippet mentioning a trend on Saturday. The third is from "Rights and Freedoms" titled "MASS FORMATION PSYCHOSIS – Rights and Freedoms" with a snippet about a general distribution of brainwashed, hypnotized, and indoctrinated individuals. A "People also ask" section follows with three questions: "What are the signs and symptoms of psychosis?", "What is the origin of psychosis?", and "What is cycloid psychosis?". A "Feedback" link is also present. At the bottom, there is a link to "See Ohio University results for mass formation psychosis" and two more search results. The fourth is from "jeffreydachmd.com" titled "Mass Psychosis Formation Leads to Totalitarian State ..." with a snippet about social bonds and sense-making. The fifth is from "covid19up.org" titled "Mass Psychosis – How an Entire Population Becomes Mentally Ill" with a snippet defining mass psychosis as an epidemic of madness and mentioning author Joseph Mercola.

Malone’s Substack page describes in more depth mass formation psychosis, also called “crowd psychosis”:

The conditions to set up mass formation psychosis include lack of social connectedness and sensemaking as well as large amounts of latent anxiety and passive aggression. When people are inundated with a narrative that presents a plausible "object of anxiety" and strategy for coping with it, then many individuals group together to battle the object with a collective singlemindedness. This allows people to stop focusing on their own problems, avoiding personal mental anguish. Instead, they focus all their thought and energy on this new object.

As mass formation progresses, the group becomes increasingly bonded and connected. Their field of attention is narrowed and they become unable to consider alternative points of view. Leaders of the movement are revered, unable to do no wrong.

Left unabated, a society under the spell of mass formation will support a totalitarian governance structure capable of otherwise unthinkable atrocities in order to maintain compliance. A note: mass formation is different from group think. There are easy ways to fix group think by just bringing in dissenting voices and making sure you give them platforms. It isn't so easy with mass formation. Even when the narrative falls apart, cracks in the strategy clearly aren't solving the issue, the hypnotized crowd can't break free of the narrative. This is what appears to be happening now with COVID-19. The solution for those in control of the narrative is to produce bigger and bigger lies to prop up the solution. Those being controlled by mass formation no longer are able to use reason to break free of the group narrative.

Given the similarities between mass formation psychosis and the current state of the world under COVID tyranny, it's unsurprising Google would take a page out of George Orwell's "1984" and become a true Ministry of Truth by censoring and suppressing concepts themselves in real time in a bid to maintain the establishment COVID narrative.

Twitter: @WhitelsTheFury

Gab: @WhitelsTheFury

Minds: @WhitelsTheFury

Gettr: @WhitelsTheFury

Source: IW

Related MSM Reaction